NOTICE RE SUNDAY FUNERALS

The ministers of the Past towns earnestly ask the co-operation of the residents in eliminating Sunday funeral services, except under most unusual circumstances. Such co-operation, generally observed, will make it unnecessary for any one minister to be embarrassed by having to make a refusal in any particular case.

CANADIANS DEFEAT LUSCAR IN OPENING FINAL GAME

Coleman Canadians defeated Luscar Indians in the first of a two-game series final playoff at Edmonton last night by 2-1, and today are travelling to Calgary, where the final tilt will be staged in the Victoria arena at 9.15 Saturday night.
Arrangements have been made for a special train, to leave Coleman on Saturday at 2.30 p.m. Fare from Coleman to Calgary return is stated at $3.75, and reduced accordingly for all intermediate points as far as Macleod, from which point a direct, practically non-stop run will be made to the city. Tickets good to return until Tuesday.

LOCAL MAN SUICIDES NEAR LETHBRIDGE VIADUCT

Word was received here on Tuesday night that Anton ("Tony") Zurich, who was being escorted from Blairmore to Ponoka, had leaped from the train near the big C.P.R. bridge after leaving Lethbridge for the north, falling between the wheels and being mangled practically beyond recognition.

Zurich had been acting strangely of late, and on Tuesday was committed to the mental asylum at Ponoka. He was being escorted by an R. C. M. P. officer, and shortly after pulling out from Lethbridge asked permission of the officer to go to the lavatory, which was granted. He immediately leaped through a window. The remains were picked up and brought back to the city, and were removed to Blairmore yesterday, where his wife and a couple of children survive.

The remains will be laid to rest tomorrow, Saturday.

Zurich was a former employee of Greenhill mine here, but had not worked for some time past.
An inquest into Zurich's death has been ordered and was opened at Lethbridge on Tuesday evening before Coroner Dr. D. B. Fowler, with the following jury empanelled: Max Stern, A. L. McKelvie, J. Jardine, F. E. Timmins, Roderic B. Davies and Fred Botsford. After viewing the remains, the inquest was adjourned until 9.30 a.m. on Thursday, when evidence was taken.

F. B. VanDuzee, of Sentinel Motors, Coleman, was awarded a nice trophy by General Motors in their recording collection campaign in 1935. It is a platinum shield, mounted on a mahogany base, with his name engraved and an inscription describing the reason for the award.

AN OLD TIMER PASSES

Death claimed another of the real oldtimers of the Crows' Nest Pass on Friday afternoon last, in the person of Mary Jane, beloved wife of Mr. William Harrison.

Mrs. Harrison had been in failing health for a considerable time, and the end of a long, happy and useful life was not altogether unexpected.

The late Mrs. Harrison was born in Middleton, Teesdale, County of Durham, England, on May 23rd, 1856, and was within three months of reaching the great age of three score and ten.

As Mrs. John Handley, she married William Harrison on December the 24th, 1881, residing together for a number of years in England before embarking for the then almost unknown land of Western Canada, eventually landing in the Crows' Nest Pass and Blairmore, where they took up residence on or about 1910.

She is survived by her husband, a daughter, in England, Mrs. J. Gilroy; a son in Canada, Joseph Handley, of Creston, B.C. (both by first marriage); also by two daughters, Mrs. F. Gilroy, of Bellevue, and Mrs. F. Goulding, of Powell River, B.C., and one son, Richard, of Michel, B.C., by the second union.

Three sons, Tom, Mark and Charles, predeceased her, Thomas passing away at Seattle several years ago, Mark dying of wounds in action in the Great War, and Charles, who passed away following a brief illness in Blairmore in July, 1933. Also there are a great number of grandchildren and great-grandchildren left to mourn a great friend and most lovable personage.

Funeral was held on Sunday afternoon, with a brief service in the United church. The remains were laid to rest in the general Protestant cemetery, Rev. A. E. Larke officiating at the church and the last rites at the graveside. Pallbearers were John Patterson, Roderic Jamieson, William McVey, Samuel Crawford, Daniel Walker and Thomas J. Williams.

The remains were laid to rest in the family plot, beside those of her son Charles.

On December 24th, 1931, the aged couple celebrated their golden wedding anniversary, and both had looked forward to having the privilege of also celebrating the diamond jubilee of an extremely happy union.

Coleman school board have appointed committees as follows: works and property, F. H. Graham and J. H. Naylor; management, G. Hope and R. M. Greenhalgh; dental, F. G. Graham and J. H. Naylor. A. Reid is chairman of the board, with James Ford secretary and assessor.

In preparation for the annual meeting of the International Coal & Coke Co. Ltd., and the McGillivray Creek Coal & Coke Co. Ltd., Hugh Davidson, of Vancouver, president of International, and Lorne Campbell, president of McGillivray, were in Coleman recently in consultation with the general manager and vice-president, George Kellock. The annual meetings of the companies will be held in Coleman on March 26th.

The entertainment staged in the auditorium of the United church on Wednesday night was largely attended and much enjoyed. The programme, though brief, was capably rendered. The leader and members of Vici Group of the C.G.I.T. desire sincerely to thank all who in any way assisted. Mr. McPherson, school principal, opened the programme with a few very witty and complimentary remarks, while little Miss Peel, aged four to five, served very efficiently as official announcer.

Whose appointment to the Supreme Court of Alberta was officially announced from Ottawa this week.

HIGHLIGHTS OF THE ALBERTA BUDGET

Inauguration of a 2 per cent general sales tax, expected to raise $2,000,000 revenue.

Increase in the income tax to 2 per cent instead of 1 per cent on the first $1,000 income, and an increase of 10 per cent on each additional $1,000, to raise $1,200,000 as against $650,000 for the current year.

Estimated increase in the Dominion government subsidy of $243,900 due to increased population of the province.

Estimated increase of $300,000 from liquor profits, due to increased price and government assumption of distribution.

A new social service tax, amounting to 3 mills on municipalities estimated to raise $323,000 more than the former Supplementary Revenue Tax, which is abolished.

Abolition of the Wild Lands Tax.

Transfer of unemployment relief charges to general account.

Estimated $300,000 deficit on the Alberta Government Telephones.

Estimated loss of $575,000 in motor license revenue as compared with current year.

Assumption of total tuberculosis patient cost by province.

Estimated total increase in revenue for the year of $3,263,515.

Estimated deficit for the year 1936-37 of $2,549,044.

B. C. FORBES WRITES ABOUT CANADA

B. C. Forbes, prominent business forecaster, who writes for numerous newspapers, said recently in the Seattle Post-Intelligencer:

The Dominion authorities have decided to abandon all attempts to spend the nation into prosperity. It has decided to limit the role of the financial limitations of the treasury.

It has decided to cease lulling out funds to the provinces for public works or to pay interest on their bonds.

One likely result is that the much advertised Albertha, who was swept into power in Alberta on promises that he would pay everybody a "social credit dividend" of $25 a month faces ignominy.

Albertha, like our own Dr. Townsend and Huey Long, gulled voters into believing that he could and would make everybody financially comfortable.

Local radio fans found every satisfaction in the relayed broadcast of the speech of His Majesty King Edward VIII. on Sunday morning.

The F. M. Thompson Co. have moved their west end store into the premises until recently occupied by the Government Vendor store. The premises vacated by Thompsons are now being remodelled to accommodate the liquor store and beer stocks. The vendor is making temporary use of the premises formerly occupied by Upton the tailor.

FORMER FRANK RESIDENT DIES SUDDENLY AT WILKIE

The following, clipped from the Wilkie Press of recent date, will be of interest to oldtimers of Frank and district.

"Wilkie sustained a loss last week in the sudden passing of a respected and esteemed resident in the person of Mr. F. Thompson, who for the past nine years has conducted a tailoring business here.

"Mr. Thompson died on February the 21st at the age of 60 years, 7 months and 12 days. On the day prior to his death he was going about his ordinary duties, although suffering from a somewhat severe cold. He passed away shortly before one o'clock on Friday.

"Mr. Thompson was born in Paris, Ontario. At the age of nine he moved with his parents to Toronto. In 1895 he came west to Pincher Creek, Alberta, later establishing at Blairmore and Frank in the Crows' Nest Pass for a period of ten years. He spent a few years in Vancouver before coming to Wilkie in 1926.

"The funeral service was conducted in the United church on the Monday afternoon, Rev. C. H. Whitmore officiating. Relatives in attendance at the funeral were Mrs. J. Johnson, of Hardisty, Alberta, sister of Mrs. Thompson, who was accompanied by her husband; Mrs. Wilson, of Nelson, B.C., and Mrs. Orr, of Vancouver, both sisters of Mrs. Thompson. Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Donald, of Rockville, close friends of Mr. and Mrs. Thompson, were also present.

Surviving are his widow, two brothers living at Barkerville, B.C., and one sister, Mrs. Charles Daniels, Toronto. Mr. Thompson's father died the day before Christmas at Paris, Ontario.

A letter to Capt. W. A. Beebe here from Mrs. Wilson at Wilkie stated:

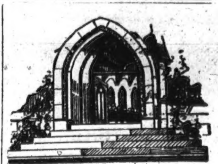

"I thought I would just write you a line and tell you of the death of Fred Thompson. It is such a shock to us all. He was only ill about twenty-four hours-it being his heart, we think, although doctors did not seem to know. He was a devoted husband and companion, and they were happy in their cozy little home. I don't know how she will survive it, but she has great vitality. We miss him. -Vina B. Wilson.

The late Fred Thompson operated a tailor shop in Blairmore as far back as April of 1904, later moving to Frank, where he continued till 1908 or 1909. An advertisement in The Blairmore Times of April 23, 1904, stated that he had just moved into new premises, next door to the Crows' Nest Joining Co.

There were about half a dozen at the big hockey game at Coleman on Saturday night small enough to resort to "boosha."

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson, newlyweds, will take up residence at Salmie, B.C. Mr. Thompson is son of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Thompson, of Blairmore, while Mrs. Thompson is daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Burrows, of Coleman. At a party held in Miss Burrows' honor in Coleman recently, she was presented with a chest of silverware by her girl friends, and a wedding cake, the gift of Mrs. Pinkney, senior, of Blairmore, was cut and distributed.

Victoria police are investigating a series of thefts during the past week or more, in which three members of the British Columbia legislature, and two other persons lost altogether about $270 and transportation tickets. Tom Uphill, Labor member of Fernie, lost $120 and rail tickets; George Murray, Liberal from Lilloet, $30, and Frank Putnam, Liberal, Nelson-Creston, his transportation. Percy McDermott, of Vancouver, was minus $100, and L. E. Mun, another visitor lost $15 as a result of the thefts.

RAINBOW TROUT MAY AID DIABETIC TREATMENT

Now it's the Rainbow trout which can be added to the list of fishes which help in protecting human health. As recently related by medical journals, research by Danish doctors has developed an improved type of insulin for the treatment of diabetes and the published statements report that this new insulin is made by mixing standard insulin with a protamine, or basic protein, obtained from what the scientists call Salmo trutta, and the what laymen know as the Rainbow trout. This does not mean, it is said, that the original type of insulin will be entirely replaced by the new form in treating diabetes, but that the "protamine insulin," or perhaps it will be called "protamine insulin," will be more effective than the other in many cases. And it should also be made quite clear that the fact that the fish may be used in preparing a new insulin does not mean that Rainbow trout by themselves are beneficial in the diet of diabetics.

However, if there is no suggestion that eating Rainbow trout will help diabetics, it is nothing new to hear of a fish which is beneficial to human health. Fish are one of the very best foods for this very reason—so many of them contain health-guarding elements. For instance, fish oils are the great source of Vitamin D; that's one of the reasons why cod liver oil and halibut liver oil, for example, are so effective in building and maintaining health. Sea fish are much richer than other foods in iodine, the goitre preventative. Calcium, phosphorus, and so on are present in fish. Because of their copper content, oysters, to cite one more example, are helpful in the diet of persons disposed to anaemia. Wise people have fish goods frequently on the table.—Fisheries News Bulletin.

Mr. Wilmott, of Calgary, addressed a largely attended meeting of Social Creditors here last night.

Rev. Harry Peters, former pastor of the Methodist church at Bellevue, now pastor of the United church at Granum, had charge of the service at St. Paul's United church, Coleman, on Sunday evening last. He was greeted by many old friends.

A New Type Camera

Used For Early Detection Of Hardening Of Arteries

A camera which detects and records the first small "explosions" of arteries in the human body, which later may result in death, was announced by the Cleveland Clinic Foundation. Developed by Dr. A. D. Rudemann, of the department of ophthalmology, and V. B. Setz, mechanical engineer, after three years of work, this camera is a new tool for the early detection of changes in the arteries, especially hardening, a condition common among old persons. The complex camera photographs the capillaries of the eye, and reveals hemorrhages and ruptures which are not visible otherwise.

Royal Approval Required

The king has seen his likeness as it will appear on new British coins. Sir Robert Johnson, deputy master of the Royal Mint, presented a plaster cast of the king's face which will be used to make dies for both coins and medals. Royal approval is required before a cast can be used.

War Produces New Hat

Dashing Headgear Makes Its First Appearance in Paris

Paris has a new hat inspired by the war in Ethiopia. A Bersaglieri hat trimmed with the traditional cock feathers, has made its appearance in the Rue Royale. It was worn by a tall, middle-aged woman, who carried the dashing headgear with great dignity. It is predicted that Bersaglieri hats will be as popular as they were in 1919 when a regiment of Bersaglieri was quartered in Paris.

Feel Tired? Backache?

FOR young girls growing into womanhood, for women in middle life going through the "change," or those who suffer from headache, weakening drains, backache and nervousness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is just the remedy needed. Mrs. Robert Bryant of 11 Glenville Ave., Hamilton, Ont., said: "What wonderful medicine Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is for me. I felt tired and weary and had such aches in my back and in my sides. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription soon restored me to good health. I feel fine, as only a healthy person can."

Now Science Explains
Why So Many People
Past 40

Feel That They're Slipping
Losing Their "Grip" on Things

Many people "round 40 think they're 'growing old.' They feel tired a lot... 'weak.' Have headaches, dizziness, stomach upsets.

Well, scientists say the cause of all this, in a great many cases, is simply an acid condition of the stomach. Nothing more.

All you have to do is to neutralize the excess stomach acidity. When you have one of these acid stomach upsets, take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia and before going to bed. That's all!

Try this. Soon you'll feel like another person! Take either the familiar liquid "PHILLIPS'" or the convenient new Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets. Made in Canada.

ALSO IN TABLET FORM: Phillips' Milk of Magnesia Tablets are now on sale at all drug stores everywhere. Each tiny tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

New Function Of Lungs

Rochester Scientist Discovers That They Create Platelet Cells

A new and apparently important function of the lungs in creating platelets, tiny cells numbering 1,500,000 to a drop of blood in a normal person, was discussed before Rochester physicians by Dr. William H. Howell, former dean of Johns Hopkins Medical Faculty.

The 76-year-old physician and retired director of the university's school of hygiene and public health discussed the little-known truth variety of corpuscles and their function in aiding the blood to clot.

Medical science has discovered that persons with a deficiency of platelets in their blood suffer thrombocytopenia or frequent hemorrhages of the skin, he said.

Dr. Howell announced he had discovered that blood leaving the lungs is richer in platelets than when it enters. In passing through other organs, he explained, the blood loses some of the tiny cells.

This would seem to indicate, he said, that there is another and entirely unknown function of the platelets themselves.

Postcards Will Talk When Placed On A Phonograph

Talking postcards have been invented by George Harrison of Hampton, England. His new microphone, amplifier and recorder make talking pictures on an ordinary photograph. The film is laid over the photograph, which can be sent through the mail and played on a phonograph. The cost of recording a six-inch disc is 25 cents.

Crochet That's New And Simple

"Can anyone do it?" Most assuredly, says Alice Brooks, who has designed this lovely rug, a matching footstool and pillow for the new and simple crocheting. Easy, six-sided medallions are done one by one, each flower a different color with background uniform or not, as you please. Sew them together and you're ready to begin the border crochet, going round and round with stripes of color used to break the background. Rug wool, rugs or candlewicking may be used.

In pattern 5544 you will find complete instructions for making the rug shown; an illustration of it and of all stitches needed; material requirements; color suggestions.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
MARCH 8
JESUS TEACHES
NEIGHBORLINESS

Golden text: Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbor as thyself. Luke 10:27. Lesson: Luke 10. Devotional reading: Matthew 5:38-48.

Explanations And Comments...

The Question of a Lawyer About Securing Eternal Life, Luke 10:25-29. A certain lawyer tested Jesus, tried to trip him, with his question "What shall I do to inherit eternal life?" His was the legalistic point of view, that eternal life would be the reward of special acts. What fasts and prayers and sacrifices, he meant, could he do to win life eternal. "What is the result of your poring over the Law?" Jesus questioned in his turn, and the lawyer quoted in answer Deuteronomy 6:5 and Leviticus 19:18. "Thou has answered right; this do, and thou shalt live," said Jesus. The man's knowledge was correct, but was only an unknown man who had no claim upon them. From priest and Levite, men who, because of their office, were bound to show mercy to any of their own race in need, the wounded man must expect help. But in all probability, as has been suggested, the priest had just come from ministering in the temple, and felt that it was enough to perform his official duties, those for which he was paid, and that no further obligation rested on him. Priest and Levite passed by on the other side.

Next there came that way a certain Samaritan, one whom Jews despised, and he was moved with compassion for the wounded man. His compassion was to him the man's wounds put him on the beast which he had been riding, and take him to the inn where he cared for him that night.

Princess Elizabeth Cannot Lead Life Of Ordinary Child

People of the United Kingdom are talking seriously about the kind of Queen little Elizabeth of York will be if, and when, she is called to reign as Elizabeth II.

Public concern is centred more than ever upon this nine-year-old girl who by the death of King George has been raised to a significant position in contemporary history.

With Edward as monarch, Elizabeth assumes second place in the line of succession. She ranks after her father, the Duke of York, but what is more important she represents the second and not the third generation as usually is the case of royal children in British history.

So concerned is the government over the future, that the cabinet considered Elizabeth's education, it is understood. And so has the family of Windsor in royal conclaves. King George when he was living, and Queen Mary, the present King and the child's mother and father.

The Duchess of York at first asked that the little girl be sent to a private school where she might receive the normal education of an English girl of the upper classes. But the others persuaded her Elizabeth must be educated to assume the crown of Britain, and Queen Mary herself has undertaken to teach etiquette and diplomatic convention to Princess Elizabeth Alexandra Mary.

Grey Owl Gives It Full Credit For His Success

"My white blood only gave me the English language," Archie McNeil, called beaver conservationist, named on the passenger list as "Grey Owl," said on his return from England where he has been lecturing for five months.

Known as the friend of the beaver, Grey Owl has written several books on the wild life of Canada.

"It is because I am an Indian, not that I wish to belittle the small amount of white blood in me, that I have made a success of my study of nature," he volunteered before he embarked at Halifax for Beaver Lodge on Lake Klamere, where he is in charge of the wild life sanctuary of Prince Albert National Park.

A Long-Lived Race

Inhabitants Of Eastern Shores Of Black Sea Live To Great Age

The government of Abkhazian, a Soviet republic on the eastern shores of the Black sea, has started an investigation to find out why many of its citizen reportedly live to be more than 100 years old. The republic of Abkhazian is a small mountainous territory whose population is made up largely of farmers and sheep raisers. One of its citizens, Adleba Makhava, was reported to have reached 150 years of age in possession of good health, good memory and excellent sight.

FLEMING'S
FOLLY— BY —
LAWRENCE A. KEATINGE

SYNOPSIS

The story opens with Link Fleming addressing a meeting of Boone County cattlemen, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company.

Roper Kilgo, the boss of the Rawhide and nearby ranges, who seemed to approve the plan, but was really opposed to it, had forced Soak Torney, a derelict mining engineer, whom Kilgo knew would be called upon to give his expert opinion in favor of the scheme, to reverse his earlier endorsement, and declare that irrigation in Boone county so far as Fleming's plan was concerned was only a "fancied way to waste money."

The meeting terminates, but Buzz Hamilton and his sister, Helen, Link and Kilgo stay behind and Helen asks Fleming questions about his irrigation plan. This angers Buzz, who accuses Fleming of trying to influence his sister and, as he asserts, ruin his "spread." Buzz shoots at Fleming in an uncontrollable fit of anger, but Buster Townsend, Link's foreman, is shot in the stomach, and Fleming is unhurt. Buzz is arrested and sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

Helen and Fleming form a partnership to provide irrigation for their own properties.

Fleming goes home and studies the plans drawn by Torney to learn whether they could be adapted to a smaller scheme suitable for his and Helen's land, and is satisfied it could be done. Feeling cold, he lights the fire and there is an explosion that wrecks the house, burns it and the plans and renders Link unconscious. He is rescued from the blaze by an employee.

(Now Go On With The Story)

He started after, "Aw, Helen! It's only that I feel bad about you going busted on Fleming's fool idea. I'll come along and carry over things. Say, I always had a weakness for you, and that's why I'm afraid about this crazy water scheme."

"I need salt," she murmured, "and some canned goods. You may carry them if you'd really like to." She tripped into the odoriferous general store with Roper at her heels.

Down the street, always making her feet bad to think of Buzz in prison.

"Huh! Tried to kill yuh, didn't he? Buzz was always wild and crazy, but he never hurt no one. I'm sure he's in there for a good reason. Anyhow," the rancher went on as he glanced about for Helen, "don't mention that he's due on the stage to-day. I want to make it a surprise. Gosh, if you were a girl and your brother was in prison, I reckon yuh'd feel good to have him paroled, eh?"

Ames grunted, unable to picture himself as a girl. "Buzz is no good even if he's her brother, even if in Hamilton was about as square a guy as this county ever saw. No, sir, Buzz is just natchelly weak; all ways was an' always will be!"

Fleming grinned indulgently and, sighting his partner in the Silver Creek Dam project started down the sidewalk toward her. Kilgo followed from the general store carrying the girl's purchases.

"Stow them in my saddlebag, will you please, Roper?" she asked over her shoulder. "Link and I have to see Otto Pieper."

Their eyes met and they smiled. Fleming's look, however, changed to sober concern as they approached the door of the Stockmen's Bank. "If we don't talk Otto into this loan it's going to be hard to keep the boys working in the dam. We're babbling with their wages now, but I'm afraid to ask more'n eight hundred. Smile a few times extra, will you?" He sighed. "If Otto says no, we're busted—sky high and permanent!"

Damp and gloomy, the bank interior lay in silence but for the deliberate ticking of a clock on the wall. No one was in the place save Jimmy Farlane, the clerk, bent industriously over a huge ledger, and Pieper himself, seated at an oak table in the rear. His sharp, womanish scrutiny lifted from a mass of papers as they approached, and his nod of welcome was curt and business-like.

"It's you two, eh?" Helen asked in a softer, faster. "Mr. Pieper," she announced, "we're here on a matter that means profits for your stockholders."

His small, deep-set eyes appraised her shrewdly. "I suppose that our irrigation scheme of yours is out of cash again. Well, I don't see how I can do anything about it." Link tossed his sombrero before the banker and leaned forward, hands on the desk. "Otto, we'll let you off easy to-day," he grinned. "All we need is eight hundred dollars."

The other stiffened. "Do you think this is the United States mint? Eight hundred dollars?" he repeated. "On what security, young fellow?" Helen and Link exchanged looks. "Well," he answered, staring at the back of his hand, "we thought maybe second mortgage."

Pieper lifted an accusing forefinger. "You know very well I turned you down twice on a second mortgage on either your property or Helen's. Isn't worth enough. This bank will take no such risk while I'm president!"

"Don't get mad, Otto. I—"

"Let's waste no more time; I'm very busy to-day." And the wiry banker busied himself with papers on his desk.

Helen's heart sank. Fleming looked at her, then moistened his lips. "If you don't care about a second mortgage, maybe we could fix up some kind of note. I'd like to keep business at home, rather than take it over to that new bank at Atlas."

Pieper sighed like a man resigned to wasting a half hour. "What's the money for? Throwin' away on that day-dream of yours? Eh?" His thin rasping tones carried through the silent bank, and Helen saw the clerk pause in his work to listen.

"I tell you," the man went on, drumming skinny fingers on his desk, "it's nothing but sheer foolishness. Trying to make hundred-dollar-acre land out of old sand that isn't worth fifty cents! I've warned you, Fleming, time and again. You too, Helen Hamilton, and if your father was here he'd turn you over his knee. He'd paddle you where it'd have the worst effect. Mighty good thing, too!"

Blushing, she shifted uncomfortably at knowledge that Link was grinning.

"How about the eight hundred?" "I can't tie up money in frozen assets!"

"Why, eight hundred's a trifle, and you know that, Otto," he added. "Provided, of course, we might be here asking twice as much, but we decided to get along somehow. Trouble is, the heavy rains lately force us to work faster, hire more men to get the dam completed. We're wonderful!" he hurried on as the other parted his lips to speak. "We'll raise four crops of alfalfa a year, think of it! Anything'll grow there, Otto—small grains too!"

Showing An Increase

Occupied Farm Land Values Are Higher This Year

A considerable increase was shown in the average value per acre of occupied farm lands including improved and unimproved land together with dwelling houses, barns and other farm buildings during 1935 compared with 1934, according to a report issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

British Columbia was the highest with a value of $60 against $58 the previous year, and Ontario next at $42 compared with $41. Values in other provinces with previous years in brackets follow: Quebec $41 ($34); Nova Scotia $31 ($27); Prince Edward Island $31 ($34); New Brunswick $25 ($24); Manitoba $17 ($17); Saskatchewan $17 ($16); Alberta $16 ($16).

Anti-Aircraft Guns

Swedish Invention Can Deliver Bullets At Rate Of Two In

A Second
Bofors, Sweden's great munitions plant, has delivered to the Swedish navy a new-designed anti-aircraft gun, capable of maintaining uninterrupted fire, the newspaper Svenska Dagbladet declared.

The new Bofors gun has a capacity of 120 rounds per minute and can be fired while the ammunition belt is being changed, the newspaper said.

The newspaper also said the Bofors new machine-gun can fire 130 bullets per minute.

Doctor Has His Troubles

Uses Only Automobile On Island Off Irish Coast

If present speed limitsirk you, think of Dr. Francis Gallagher, who has just introduced an automobile on the lonely windswept isle of Arranmore, off the Donegal coast of Ireland. "We have arranged with Dr. Gallagher that he shall not drive in excess of five miles an hour, and that there shall be no driving at night," said a native. The 600 islanders, the majority of whom have rarely left the island, are not pleased about this "new-fangled" invention.

"The island is nine miles long and five broad," the doctor explained, "and the 200 donkeys seem more like 2,000 when you try to drive past. Surfacing is so terrible that my tires must only be semi-inflated."

Story Of Last Coronation

Rare Book Now Owned By United States Library

A truly royal description of the pattern to which the coming coronation of King Edward VIII will hew lies locked in the air-cooled store-rooms for rare books in the United States congressional library at Washington.

Bound in fine leather and purple silk, pages edged in gold, bearing the royal monograms of King George V. and Queen Mary, it is the complete story of their coronation, done with their approval and presented by them to the Czar Nicholas II. of Russia.

The book was a part of the Czar's private library at his winter palace. After the upheaval of 1917, the library became state property.

Claim Of Inventor

New Material To Make Warships Immune To Shells

Lester Barlow, inventor of Stamford, Conn., says he has devised a material possessing shock-absorbing characteristics which would make warships virtually immune to explosives.

Barlow, inventor of a type of depth bomb used in the Great War, declined to disclose the nature of the material.

Barlow said he was ready to offer use of the material to the United States government as a "lever" in effecting world-wide reduction of naval armaments.

Takes Money To Eat

Exchange Regulations In Russia Boost Price Of Food

New Soviet exchange regulations have gone into effect which indicate that the rush of bright young things to Moscow next summer may be somewhat abated; that is, if the B.T.T.'s still remember that even in Russia it takes money to eat.

Under the new rules, here are some price equivalents at the Intourist restaurant in Moscow as reported by the New York Herald Tribune:

Smoked salmon (slice) . . . $1.40
Boiled ham (with salad) . . . 2.40
Vegetable salad . . . 1.60
Swiss cheese (one slice) . . . 1.10

In grocery stores white bread will sell at 60 cents a loaf.

Some of the grand dukes who have been running Russian restaurants in this country must have sneaked back home with their price lists.—New York Post.

Weigh Cosmic Rays

Photographic Scales Show Them Less Massive Than Supposed

A photographic scale which weighs cosmic rays was described to the American Physical Society at New York by Dr. W. F. G. Swann, director of the Bartol Institute, Philadelphia.

The scales showed the weights of the rays at the earth's surface. Those which pierce the human body at the rate of dozens a minute, are far less massive than has been supposed.

The weighing process contradicts the evidence set up by Dr. Arthur H. Compton, of the University of Chicago, that most of the rays at sea level are protons. The scales show that instead they are nearly all electrons, less than 10 per cent being protons.

Drought-Resistant Tree

Nursery Officials Recommend Green Ash For Shelter Belts

In the experience of the officials of the Dominion Forest Nursery Station at Sutherland, Saskatchewan, green ash is the most drought-resistant tree in the planting of shelter belts on private farms, and it also stands excess moisture well. Poplars and willows are among the least drought-resistant. Maples when planted by themselves seldom die on account of lack of moisture. Seedlinglings of the green ash are distributed both from the station at Sutherland and from the Dominion Forest Nursery Station at Indian Head, care being taken to send out only those suitable to the soil, moisture supply, and climatic conditions of the various districts.

System Has Been Changed

Canada Makes Banknotes Into Pulp Instead Of Burning Them

The Canadian Government now "bolls" its old banknotes instead of burning them. Last year $50,000,000 in common bank notes were dumped in a huge vat and boiled to a pulp, which was sold to paper-makers. Burning of old bills was abandoned as "wasteful" and because of the possibility of scraps of notes, partially burned being carried through chimneys to the outdoors.

BEFORE you take any preparation you don't know all about, for the relief of headaches, or the pains of rheumatism, neuritis or neuralgia, ask your doctor what he thinks about it—in comparison with "Aspirin."

We say this because, before the discovery of "Aspirin," most so-called "pain" remedies were advised against by physicians as being bad for the stomach; or, often, for the heart. And the discovery of "Aspirin" largely changed medical practice.

Countless thousands of people who have taken "Aspirin" year in and out without ill effect, have proved that the medical findings about its safety were correct.

Remember this: "Aspirin" is rated among the fastest methods yet discovered for the relief of headaches and all common pains . . . and safe for the average person to take regularly.

Little Helps For This Week

The Lord thy God shall bless thee in all thy works, and in all that thou puttest thy hand to do. Deut. 15:10.

My place of lowly service too, Beneath Thy sheltering wings I see.

For all the work I have to do Is done through sheltering rest in Thee.

I think I find most help in trying to look on all interruptions and hindrances to work that one has planned out for oneself as discipline sent by God to help us against getting selfish over our work. Then one could feel that perhaps one's true work, work for God, consists in doing some trifling thing that has been thrown into the way. It is not waste of time as we are apt to think, but it is the most important work of the day, the part one can best offer to God. After such a hindrance do not rush after the planned work, but wait that one has time to finish it will be given something and keep a quiet heart about it.—A. Keary.

PITY THE POOR RICH?

In a recent editorial the Calgary Herald got quite worked up over the sufferings of the unfortunate rich people of Canada through the amount of taxes they have to pay, and repeats the perennial threat that they are going to move to Florida or the Channel Islands or some other rich man's Utopia where the tax gatherer ceases from troubling and the wealthy can be at rest.

It is only once in a while the Herald breaks into one of these sob stories about the poor rich man, and if it knew the reaction of the ordinary public towards the article in question they would probably appear even less frequently. Personally they leave us cold, absolutely cold. We find it impossible to work up any sympathy for the rich man who objects to the taxes he has to pay. The richer he is the better able he is to pay taxes. The rest of us would be quite willing to pay more taxes if we had more income to pay them with. Unfortunately, the richer some men get the harder it seems for them to part with any of it.

The usual threat made is that the rich man is going to move away, which is just a bluff to try and frighten ordinary people. The same threat is made by the rich in other countries too. The Herald mentions the case of two, reported to be two of Canada's richest men, who threatened nearly a year ago to move to Sark in the Channel Islands on account of what they claimed was excessive taxation. Even if by doing so they could escape taxation (which they could not) can any sensible person visualize two men of the financial standing of those mentioned above going to settle down in a little island like Sark simply because the government of that island does not impose taxes. They'd have plenty of time and plenty of money and they wouldn't know what to do with either. And it is worthy of note that both gentlemen are still in Canada where their interests are.

At the time the threat of moving was made these two gentlemen's annual income tax payments were estimated to aggregate $3,000,000. One of them said 70% of his income is paid in taxes. That would still leave them close to $1,300,002 which seems amply sufficient for two men. If they looked into the matter of taxation in the Old Country they might find they were getting off light at that.

There is another point in connection with the reported threats of the ultra wealthy to move to other climes. They may move but they can't take their money in a portable form with them. Their income being derived from investments in Canada (stocks, bonds, real estate, etc.) would still be under the control of the government of Canada and the property would have to pay taxes all the same. If they tried to sell their investments, who could they sell them to? Other rich men with the same ideas? And even if they could get gold (which they can't) they wouldn't be allowed to take it out of the country. So how its going to be of advantage to them to move is something the ordinary man, will find it hard to understand.

In fact this threat of the rich man going to move on account of taxes reminds us of the old bugaboo that nuremaids used to try and frighten children with.

We often wonder if the possession of wealth clouds men's intellects so that they lose not only the sense of what is morally right and morally wrong, but also the ability to see how their selfish grasping policy is not only going to hurt the poorer people, but is going to react against the country to which they belong and, consequently eventually against themselves. If they studied history they would find that the downfall of every great country in the past has been caused by the accumulation of too much wealth in too few hands, thereby weakening the ordinary people of the country so much that they were unable to offer any active resistance to a more hardy invader, the strength of whose nation and leaders had not been sapped by the accumulation of large fortunes on the one hand and poverty and lack of the necessities of life on the other, resulting in spiritual, moral and physical decay.

If the Review was asked "What has been Canada's biggest curse?" (or any other country's for the matter of that) we should unhesitatingly reply, "Its rich men." We mean by that the men who have accumulated large fortunes by grinding down their employees in stores and factories, rooking the public by charging exorbitant prices for goods and services, and worse than all, all those men who have jockeyed their way to the head of important financial institutions, and by their control of the public funds there have so reorganized industry according to their ideas as to leave nothing but the trailing wrecks of hundreds of what had been prosperous and paying businesses and factories, tens of thousands of men and women out of work and the bulk of the people of Canada, who had been led away by the glamor of the names of these so-called leaders of the people, with all their life savings tied up in watered stock worth perhaps one fifth of what they paid for it.

And these are the men we are told to fall down to and worship. And when one has a birthday or is called before a Bar at which the services of no legal advocate can avail him, the great dailies of this country are full of fulsome adulation of how he had worked his way up to a leading position in the country's affairs and what his services had done for Canada.

The work of these men on this continent today has bankrupted it financially, destroyed the morale of its inhabitants, left its rising generation with nothing but the hopeless outlook on life, and caused endless deaths, misery and suffering. It has left us with a heritage of debt which can never be paid, a relief problem which is growing more acute all the time and a desperate sense of the injustice of things which among a more unstable or less educated people have probably resulted in anarchy and revolution before now.

Wealth after all is just a term, and what use would thousands or millions in cash, or property be to any man if there was nobody to grow food for him to eat or make clothes for him to wear.

Is it any wonder that under these circumstances the people of Alberta yearn for any new system that offers itself, as a drowning man clutches at a straw, with the feeling that it may improve matters, but can't make them any worse anyway. Whether they have been right or wrong, time will tell. But it is a sign of the hand with them. If the men who have brought Canada into its present plight don't devise some means of leading her out, they will wake up some morning to find the means have been devised by somebody else of a very unpleasant and drastic nature.

In conclusion we might say the following immortal lines from Goldsmith's "Deserted Village" are just as applicable today as when they were written, though in a different sense:

"Ill fares the land to hastening ills a prey
Where wealth accumulates and men decay.
Princes and peers may flourish or may fade,
A breath unmake them as a breath has made;

But a bold peasantry, their country's pride,
When once destroyed can never be supplied."

—Okotoks Review.

SURVEY OF LEGISLATIVE NEWS FOR WEEK

(By T. B. Windross)

Edmonton, Alta. (Press Gallery), Mar. 4.—This week the big event of the legislature took place Monday, when Hon. Charles Cockcroft, provincial treasurer, presented his budget to the house in a speech which had many notable features. The budget is remarkable in that for the first time for some years the provincial treasurer has budgeted for a surplus, stated in the estimates as $34,222, after transferring from capital account to income account expenditures for direct relief, estimated at $1,497,666 and the provision of $713,453 for the sinking fund. Mr. Cockcroft explained that it was considered the income account was the proper place for the above items and not capital account. An interesting and important feature of the budget is its provision for the care by the government of free treatment for all tuberculous patients in the province in the interests of the health of the citizens, and for expenditure of $100,000 to provide additional accommodation for those patients in the already established hospitals. Municipalities will also be interested in the plan to carry 95 per cent of the 50 per cent of relief costs now borne by the cities, thus reducing their burden from 50 to 25 per cent. New taxation is provided for in an increase in the income tax to bring it into line with other provinces. This is estimated to yield an increase in revenue. The estimated revenue from this tax is $1,200,000 as compared with $650,000 last year. A sale tax will be levied on the ultimate purchasers of commodities from which the gross revenue is estimated at $2,000,000. A social service tax is to replace the supplementary revenue tax with an added estimated revenue of $323,000, or a total of $1,223,000. An increase subsidy payment from the Dominion of $243,906, is based on the increase of the population to over 800,000 expected to be shown in the quinquennial census to be taken this year. And an estimated increase in revenue of $500,000 from the Liquor Board taking over the distribution of beer, and also from increased prices on liquors is included in the estimated revenue. A loss in revenue is anticipated from the change in the motor license year beginning from April 1st instead of January 1st. The tax on wild lands will be dropped.

The members of the legislature had a three-day holiday during last week, the house adjourning Tuesday afternoon for Ash Wednesday, and continuing adjourned until Monday, March 2. Before the adjournment Premier Aberhart stated the legislature was well advanced with its work and therefore could spare time for the holiday. But Liberal leader W. R. Howson, and Conservative leader, D. M. Duggan, while agreeing to the holiday, disagreed with the statement that the work was well advanced. Mr. Howson, said: "We have been three weeks now and nothing has been done."

During the interval, Major C. H. Douglas has continued to hold a central place in the speculative interest of the public. When he heard of the statement made in the house that he had been paid a sum exceeding $6,400 by the Alberta government for his services in 1934-35, he promptly denied he had received any such sum, and later examination of the province's accounts showed he was right to the extent of $300 and a little more. Then the London founder of Social Credit astonished the public, and evidently surprised nobody more than Premier Aberhart, by stating in an interview in London to a Canadian journalist that he was not engaged by the Alberta government "to prepare a plan of Social Credit for Alberta." He insisted that no such contract is mentioned in the agreement or correspondence between himself and the provincial government. Comment on this situation would be useless as there is no way of checking up on the major's statement and there has been so much misrepresentation in connection with the situation between the London exponent of Social Credit and Premier Aberhart in the press that it will be wise to hold comment until more is known.

This week the most interesting of all the bills to be introduced by the government will be before the members for first reading at least, it is the Social Credit enabling bill, which was delayed in its journey to the assembly by the holiday—last week. What treatment it will receive is of interest, but it may be affirmed that in the long run, whatever the opposition, it will be given third reading and passed into law. The recall measure will also be made law following its regular course through the legislature. The education bill is said not to be as ready for presentation as the other two important bills. It is being given minor changes to meet suggestions by Social Credit members and to meet some objections voiced by its opponents as much as is consistent with its purpose. The main principle will be unchanged, it is learned.

JUST A LEAP YEAR POEM

Don't marry a man to reform him,
To God and your own self be true;
Don't link to his voice your virtue—
You'll rue it dear girls if you do.

No matter how fervent his pleading,
Be not by his promises led;
If he can't be a man while a wooing,
He'll never be one when he's wed.

Don't marry a man to reform him,
To repent it, alas, when to late,
The mission of wives least successful,
Is making of crooked lines straight.

There's many a maiden has tried it
And proved it a failure at last.
Better tread life's pathway alone,
Dear,

Than to wed with a lover that's fast.

The late Harry Orr was 56 years of age, and leaves to mourn his passing his wife and two sons, Gordon and Bobby. The funeral service was held in their home on Sunday afternoon and the remains were laid to rest in the Hillcrest cemetery.

F. Willett's father passed away at Lethbridge last week, following a short illness.

The money prize at Cole's theatre on Wednesday night went to A. Bain.

Miss Helen Westrup entertained a number of friends at bridge at her home on Friday evening.

Mrs. W. H. Moser and children are visiting in Pincher Creek.

Mrs. M. B. Walker returned last week from a visit to Calgary.

Miss Mary Warriner entertained a few friends at her home on Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. L. Rose and Messrs. Gilbert Miller and E. Rhys were elected to fill the three vacancies on the school board. Mr. Miller has been chosen chairman of the board.

E. Rhys has been confined to his home through illness for several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement Guza are recovering over the birth of a baby boy.

BELLEVEUE HAPPENINGS

The local Caledonian Society entertained a number of their friends at a whist drive and dance in the L.O. O.F. hall on Thursday evening. Prizes for whist were awarded as follows: ladies' first, Mrs. Leslie McDonald; second, Miss Erma McDonald; gent's first, C. R. Ritchie; second, J. Curry. Following a dainty luncheon, dancing was enjoyed for several hours.

Misses May Dudley and Peggy Thornton, of Hillcrest, were week end visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Prescott.

Pete Rosko, who has been in a Calgary hospital for the past two years, has returned, very much improved in health.

Miss Dorothy Barlass left on Sunday afternoon's train for Calgary, where she has accepted a position.

Mrs. A. May, of Medicine Hat, spent the week end at the home of her sister, Mrs. Dave Hutton.

Julius Ovre had the misfortune to slip on ice just outside his home on Sunday morning, breaking his hip. He is resting as well as can be expected in the local hospital.

Mrs. W. Prescott is confined to her home through illness.

Miss B. Kroll, of Frank, spent the week end here with Miss Margaret Litherland.

Miss Enes Chiarovano, of the local

Mrs. Bent, of Lundbreck, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Cosstick.

Miss Dorothy Cosstick, who has been visiting in Calgary, returned home over the week end.

Mrs. Fred Padgett, who has been ill for several days, is slowly improving.

The Bellevue high school hockey team won the cup by defeating the Blaimore "Hl."

Mrs. C. Johnson entertained a number of ladies at her home on Wednesday afternoon.

Miss Beatrice Radford is confined to her home through illness.

Messrs. J. Christie, L. Dambois and J. Dugdale are in Calgary attending a labor convention.

Joe Labourel, local carpenter and builder, has been confined to his home for the past two weeks with a severe attack of the flu.

COWLEY HAPPENINGS

Miss Rosalie Shambroon returned to her home on the North Fork of the Old Man River on Tuesday, after a visit of three weeks here with Miss Muri Smyth.

Mrs. Arthur Blais, who has been a patient in St. Vincent's hospital at Pincher Creek, has returned home much improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund LaBrie and family took up residence in Cowley on Wednesday.

Mrs. Nelson Askew, who has been confined to her bed from an attack of influenza, is now able to be around. Miss Ila Wood, principal of the Turin school, has been obliged to close her school on account of an outbreak of scarlet fever, and has returned home for a while.

The Cowley Girls Club will hold a dance in the Wilson hall on Friday night of this week.

Joe Wilson, who has been in poor health for some time, acting on advice of his doctor, has left for the Pacific coast, via Calgary, and will be away about three months.

Word has been received of the death of Mrs. James Bird at her home at Grand Forks, B.C., some weeks ago. Mrs. Bird will be remembered well here by a large number of people, as she and her family had resided in the district for a number of years, coming to the country in the pioneer days and homesteading on Olin Creek, which stream bears the name of her father, Mr. Olin, who departed this life several years ago in Pincher Creek.

The Cowley Girls Club staged a whist drive and dance in the Masonic hall on Friday night last. Court whist was played, Miss Edith Murphy and Miss Rosalie Shambroon winning ladies' first and consolation prizes, while Norman Horning and Jack Bundy were the gent winners. After a tasty luncheon, served by the members of the club, a lively dance followed to music furnished by Mrs. Ketha Smith at the piano. The proceeds were donated to charitable purposes.

A number of local people attended the Coleman-Drumheller hockey tilt at Coleman on Saturday night, and reported an exciting time.

On Monday night, a miscellaneous shower was given in the Masonic hall for Mr. and Mrs. Edmund LaBrie and family, whose home was recently destroyed by fire. There was a generous giving. In spite of the almost impassable country roads, a large crowd was present. Entertainment took the form of a whist drive, with prizes being won by Mrs. Grace Lote, ladies' first; Miss Dorothy Dwyer, consolation; Rev. Father O'Dea, gent's first and Orin Dwyer consolation. After a dainty luncheon had been served, dancing followed for a couple of hours to music supplied by Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tustian and Mrs. Robert Littleton. A purse of money (donations) has also been given to Mr. and Mrs. LaBrie from the community.

"PRACTICAL SERMONS"

I'd rather see a sermon than to hear one any day,

I'd rather one should walk with me than merely tell the way,

The eye's a better pupil, and more willing than the ear,

Fine counsel is confusing, but example's always clear,

And the best of all the preachers are the men who live their creeds,

For to see good put in action is what everybody needs.

I can soon learn how to do it, if you'll let me see it done,

I can watch your hands in action but your tongue too fast may run,

And the lectures you deliver may be very wise and true,

But I'd rather get my lesson by observing what to do,

For I may not understand you, and the high advice you give;

But there's no misunderstanding how you act and how you live.

When I see a deed of kindness I am eager to be kind;

When a weaker brother stumbles and a strong man stays behind

Just to see if he can help him, then the wish grows strong in me,

To become as big and thoughtful as I know that friend to be;

And all travellers can witness that the best of guides today

Is not the man who tells them, but the one who shows the way.

One good man teaches many, men believe what they behold—

One deed of kindness noticed is worth forty that is told.

Who stands with men of honor, learns to hold his honor dear,

For right living speaks a language which to everyone is clear?

Though an able speaker charms us with his eloquence, I say

I'd rather see a sermon than to hear one any day.—Ex.

A Pot Of Gold?

It is said that people learn by experience. True, undoubtedly, but one wonders sometimes just how much experience is needed for some people to learn some lessons.

In illustration one might cite the well established axiom that "there is no royal road to wealth." Experience, reaching back for centuries has amply proved the truth of this assertion, but the lessons of the past do not appear to be very deeply engraved on a good many human minds, or if the truth of the statement is admitted and recognized, it is quite frequently ignored or blindly waived aside.

Why is it that so many people are easy to convince, against all the laws of sound economics, in defiance of recorded history and experience, in opposition to their own inherent common sense, that there is a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow to be had merely for the gathering?

Why is it that people of fair education, people who are well read, people who usually apply good sense in the pursuit of their daily avocations and even demonstrate shrewd ability in ordinary business transactions, fall an easy prey to the lure of financial fakirs, confidence tricksters and unscrupulous sharks?

There can be only one answer to these questions and that is that people of ordinary intelligence and acumen who succumb to the wiles of the tricky financial gangster and invest hard earned savings in wild projects and doubtful schemes have permitted their blind, unreasoning hope to supplant judgment and common sense. In other words, the desire to get something for nothing or to acquire a lot from a little is allowed to over-ride good sense. The inevitable result of such lapse is disastrous speculation in schemes in which every card is stacked against the player.

And once the victim has allowed himself to be lured into the net by promises of huge returns and great rewards it is astonishing how ready he is to admit even to himself that he has been ensnared even after the truth is revealed in unpleasant starkness. The net in which he is caught is made of golden meshes and rather than credit anything else he is ready to believe the most impossible stories and back up his faith by sending good money after bad until he is ultimately strangled.

A remarkable illustration of the operation of this psychological trait was recently unfolded in the expose of the "Drake estate" frauds in the Chicago courts when it was revealed that 70,000 residents of mid-western States had contributed a total of $1,350,000 to a group who represented they held claims to the Sir Francis Drake estate, consisting of incredible wealth in Great Britain plus title to debts owing the estate in 66 countries of the world with compound interest which had been piling up for 300 years. It was represented that those who would contribute funds to enable the group to settle up the estate would reap a thousandfold on their investment.

Even after the ringleader was sentenced to a ten-year term in jail money continued to roll in to his agents who collected on a commission basis to further their alleged efforts to "collect the estate," evidence in the trial of 41 of these collectors revealed.

Wild stories were told at campaign meetings and judging from the resultant flow of money, believed. Prospects were told that all the silver and gold in the world really belonged to the estate, which was why the United States began calling in both and why England departed from the gold standard, that when Roosevelt was reported on a fishing trip he was actually in England settling the estate and that the ring leader was not in jail but was waiting to release a secret understanding with the Bank of England, which would start the golden flood pouring across the prairies. One of the prospects is reported to have written the Bank of England, and when told the Drake estate had been settled long ago, "repeated his plaintive query, 'What steps do I take to get my money?'"

It reads like a fairy tale, but it is opportune to point out that for this one scheme which received a great deal of publicity, there are hundreds of others to which the unsuspecting public is invited to subscribe, about which not much is heard.

Such appeals are invariably launched on the well-founded assumption that there are still plenty of people gullible enough to part with their money if the bait is made sufficiently glittering in the form of handsome returns at short notice.

Those who are tempted by such blandishments would do well to hesitate before taking the plunge into dubious waters and particularly to be wary of glittering promises of speedy and handsome dividends. Money is not made that way, except by the few who are out to "take the suckers for a ride."

For the average man or woman there is just one reasonably safe way to ensure a competence for old age and that is by the slow and painful route of hard work, thrift and investment of savings in sound securities, remembering that the sower of the seed, the smaller will be the return. Such method requires courage, persistence, self-denial, endurance and intelligence, but it is the only rational way, for there is no royal road to riches.

Birthplace Of King

Was Richmond Park And Not Sandringham As Sometimes Stated

Several writers, mentioning the birthplace of the King, have stated that he first saw the light of day in York Lodge, on the Sandringham Estate. Actually he was born at White Lodge, Richmond Park, then the home of his parents, the Duke and Duchess of York, the Glasgow Herald points out. A few days after his christening the household moved to York Lodge, which was later the birthplace of his brothers and sisters.

Robbed Press Of Headline

Prince Of Wales Had Fall Papers Did Not Get

Rt. Hon. Raoul Dandurand, government leader in the Senate, told the Red Chamber how King Edward as Prince of Wales "got even" with newspapers for publishing pictures of him thrown by horses.

The Senator described a meeting with the Prince in 1927 and a discussion of horse racing in which the Prince said he had no more falls than the average rider but that "terrible photographers had him in the press all the time."

"I once got even with them," he quoted the Prince as having told him. "I robbed them of a big headline. On the polo grounds at the other end of the field, far away from the clubhouse, I was knocked down by a mallet stroke which grazed the eye and made a gash on the eyelid. My shirt was covered with blood. I was picked up and driven to a nearby hospital where I was given three stitches. If reporters had been at the hand the world would have been told I was dead."

A more violent movement does not always get at the cause. It only makes the bile flow more freely and makes you feel better for a few days. But it does not cure the cause. The bile flow is slow. Truly, they do the work of the liver. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else, Sir.

Smoke Drift Of London

Reports Would Indicate It Travels For Long Distance

That smoke originating in England is being observed in other parts of Europe was reported at the annual conference of the National Smoke Abatement Society in Bristol, England, by Dr. A. G. Ruston of Leeds University. "Smoke from industrial England has been observed," he said, "as far west as Valentia Island, on the West coast of Ireland; the smoke drift of London is frequently seen by air pilots over the Channel and Northern France; a roof fringe on the edge of Cape Cod—derived from Lancashire and the West Riding of Yorkshire—has been photographed; and it has been alleged that the sheep on the Isle of Man turn darker in color when an east wind blows across from Lancashire."

Russia's Communal Kitchens

Preparation Of Food Is Done Entirely By Machinery

Twenty-one million Russians are being fed to-day from communal kitchens. Last year they consumed ten billion dishes. During the past six years the number of persons served from such kitchens has increased by 20 times; and the service is still growing. One kitchen now in course of construction will be capable of preparing 450,000 meals a day. The preparation of food in these organizations has become so highly mechanized that the food is not touched by human hands during the whole process.

Paderewski was born, and round the dial are the notes of 12 Paderewski compositions. It is said to keep perfect time.

May Build Salt Refinery

Test Drilling Will Start Soon At Salt Beds In Alberta

Erection of a $70,000 salt refinery at McMurtry, Alberta, in the spring will be carried out by a new company, according to F. I. Batchelor of Cornwall, Ontario, head of the new firm, who recently returned from a week's inspection trip at the salt beds.

A diamond-drill crew will commence operations as soon as the cold snap breaks in the north and will continue test drilling until spring on the property leased from the provincial government, said the former Calgary bank manager.

If present indications of the extent of the salt bed are confirmed, the refinery will be constructed in the spring, Mr. Batchelor said.

Plant will have a production of 30,000 tons of salt a year and will employ in the neighborhood of 40 men.

Questioned regarding a market for the product Mr. Batchelor stated Alberta alone consumes from 30,000 to 32,000 tons yearly.

Central western provinces use 70,000 to 80,000 tons a year. Plant will be confined to manufacturing table salt at the outset and will branch into various grades later. The salt is mined by drilling and pumping the salt to the surface in the form of brine. The brine is evaporated in the refinery.

Refinery will be erected beside the railway at McMurtry and if necessary the brine may be piped from wells some distance away.

Production is expected to commence by next September.

Taxed Captain's Skill

Locomotives Broke Moorings In Storm And Jumped About Deck

To have four 72-ton locomotives dance about the deck of a little tramp steamer in a monsoon on the Indian Ocean, was the experience of Captain H. Nygaard master of the Oshana, told of the perilous trip on arriving at Singapore, Malaysia. The locomotives were on their way from Alsace-Lorraine to China and were strapped to the deck with heavy chains. Their 30-foot tenders were in the hold. The terrific wind sent waves after wave over the little vessel until she was practically under water all the time. Suddenly, Captain Nygaard said, the locomotive lifted and jumped about as if alive, nine of them. The ship had to be maneuvered to keep it above water and the locomotives on deck. Stopping at Bombay Captain Nygaard had the bindings renewed.

School Absences Due to Colds Cut Almost One-Half

Famous Colds-Control Plan Tested in Three Series of Clinics Among 5,118 School Children

FURTHER PROVED IN HOME USE

School absences due to colds have been reduced nearly one-half (40.2%) by following Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds. This is shown in reports of clinics among 5,118 school children.

Mothers and teachers alike welcome Vicks Plan as a practical guide to fewer and shorter colds. This common sense, medically sound Plan is based on three simple steps:

1. To Help Build Resistance to Colds Live normally—avoid excesses. Eat simple food and keep elimination regular. Drink plenty of water. Take some exercise daily—outdoors preferably. Get plenty of rest and sleep.

2. To Help Freshen Many Colds At the first warning nasal irritation, sniffle or sneeze, use Vicks Vapo-rub—just a few drops up each nostril. Vapo-rub is a specially designed formula for the nose and upper throat—where most colds start. Used in time, Vapo-rub helps to prevent many colds and to throw off head colds in the early stages.

3. To Help End a Cold Sooner If a cold has developed, or strikes without warning, rub throat and chest at bedtime with Vicks Vapo-rub. Vapo-rub acts two ways at once: (1) By stimulation through the skin, like a poultice or plaster; (2) By inhalation of its penetrating medicated vapors, direct to inflamed air-passages. Through the night, this vapor-poultice action loosens phlegm, soothes irritation, helps break congestion.

What Vicks Plan can do for others has been indicated not only in clinics, but also in the further proof of everyday home use by thousands. What it can do for you and your family can be proved only by trying it. Directions for following the Vicks Plan in each package of Vicks Vapo-rub and Vicks Vapo-lub.

Had Varied Career

Canadian Holder Of Victoria Cross

An old soldier is wearing his medals, or rather his ribbons, with great pride in the parliament buildings these days, for Corporal Philip Konowal, V.C., has been promoted from his position on the cleaning staff to that of a uniformed attendant in charge of room 16, the common room in the House of Commons. Konowal has had a varied career. Born in Russia, he went overseas with the 7th Canadian battalion from Ottawa. He won his V.C. at Hill 70 and Lens when he bayoneted 16 Germans, took three prisoners and a machine gun and destroyed two other machine guns.

King George told him when he presented him with his medal that he had one of the outstanding records in the army. Then Konowal spent nine years in hospital. After that he did not seem able to find anyone who needed a V.C. to work for them, and eventually he was hired on the charring staff at parliament buildings.

One of his duties was to mop up the floor of the hall of fame, where it had been suggested by patriotic citizens bronze busts of Canada's holders of the Victoria Cross should be placed.

Four days ago he was promoted, now resident in a brand new green outfit with gilt buttons, he attends to members in their common room.

Recalls Queen As Customer

Edmonton Man Sold Out Outfit For Present King

The outfit of linen for the coat in which the present King spent some of his first year's life back in 1894, was sold to Queen Mary by Walter J. Price, now on the staff of a store in Edmonton.

He was a clerk in a drygoods shop in Malvern, Worcestershire, at the time, and to that town came Queen Mary in the summer of 1894. With the infant Prince of Wales, they were guests at one of the spas for some weeks. One day the Queen came into the store where Mr. Price was employed and to the counter where he was on duty.

"She came in just like any ordinary customer," says Mr. Price, "told what she wanted, and was shown to my counter. As she sat down she asked if I knew who she was, and on my assuring her that I did, she smiled and went on at once with her shopping."

"I sold her a complete outfit of pillow cases, sheets, and spread for the baby prince's cot. She was not hard to serve, but of course I showed her the kind of goods I thought would please her. There was not the slightest suggestion of 'side' or formality in her manner. On the other hand, she showed just the sort of motherly concern that one would expect."

BRITAIN WILL TRY ANOTHER PLAN TO LIMIT ARMS

London.—Great Britain indicated to naval conference quarters she intends to propose a new plan to obtain a world naval limitation treaty through bi-lateral negotiations with other powers.

The move followed an announcement that the Italians are not prepared to sign a four-power treaty at present. The Rome delegation so advised the British government. It was understood they were not ready to proceed until the question of sanctions against Italy is settled.

First discussions under the new plan will be with the Americans and Germans if they accept the idea. Russia would probably be next approached, with Japan, France and Italy following.

The plan would be for each power to negotiate separately with the British and initial a draft treaty providing for the annual exchange of information on building programs and limitation of the size and types of ships.

The present four-power conference would be adjourned until near the end of the year. If all bilateral negotiations are completed by then, all powers would meet here to sign the treaty they had initiated. The draft treaty would not be effective until the treaty was signed.

British Member Criticized

Labor Member Told Royal Family Was Never Discussed

London.—David Kirkwood, Labor M.P., was sharply criticized in the House of Commons for citing the royal family during debate on a supplementary estimate for the labor ministry.

Feeling that vacations be allowed to unemployed persons in training camps, Kirkwood referred to the travels a few years ago in South Africa and Argentina of "a wealthy young man" who at that time was the Prince of Wales.

The deputy chairman of the house interrupted him with the remark, "the honorable members must be aware that we never discuss the royal family in this house."

Royal Commission Will Investigate Penitentiary System in Canada

Ottawa.—Personnel of the royal commission which will investigate Canada's penitentiary system has been practically completed. It is understood the body will be a three- or five-man commission, probably the latter, and the terms of reference will call for an exhaustive study of conditions in all Canadian penitentiaries with evidence taken at each institution.

Revenue From Wage Tax

Winnipeg.—The Manitoba Government did right well with its two per cent. wage tax, this fiscal year, according to reports tabled in the Provincial Legislature. The tax yielded $1,674,800, $24,800 more than the government had expected, Hon. E. A. McPherson, provincial treasurer, told the assembly.

For Travelling Expenses

Ottawa.—Travelling expenses of members and officers of the Canadian Radio Commission from April 1, 1933, to February 21, 1936, amounted to slightly more than $60,000, according to a return tabled in the House of Commons in reply to a question by Hermas Deslauriers (Lib., St. Mary).

Moscow.—Ivan Pavlov, noted Russian physiologist, is dead at the age of 87. Pavlov was famous in scientific circles for his researches on digestive organs and in methods of treating animals. For his work in this connection he was awarded the Nobel prize in 1904.

Nations in Arrears

Ottawa.—The House of Commons was informed 21 nations, members of the League of Nations, were in arrears in their annual payments for upkeep of the league last Sept. 1. The amount of arrears of these nations was 19,947,987.30 gold francs.

Relief Camp Policy Changed

Government Hopes To Have Them Closed By Dominion Day

Ottawa.—Closing of relief camps throughout Canada by Dominion Day is the objective of the government, Hon. Norman McLeod, minister of labor, announced. Present strength of the camps will not be increased. There will be no new admissions.

In a statement to the House of Commons the minister said: Arrangements have been made with the Canadian railways to employ 10,000 men on deferred maintenance work the coming autumn.

Men taken from the relief camps by the railways will be on a basis of work and wages.

The additional railway maintenance work will be undertaken by the government and railways on a co-operative basis. An emergency supplementary estimate will be introduced in the house to cover the government's share.

While relief camps remain open, projects will be continued under the department of national defence, working in close co-operation with and carrying out the policy of the labor department.

Co-operation will be encouraged between provinces and Dominion in working out more intensive application of the farm placement scheme.

Allowance of 20 cents a day in the relief camps will be increased to $10 a month, as from March 1. All other allowances, such as food, clothing, tobacco and medical care will remain the same.

The monthly allowance of $15 will be paid out as follows: $7.50 in cash, the other $7.50 being set aside until such time as the man leaves the camp when he will receive non-negotiable vouchers payable at the rate of $4 a week at any post office, for the total balance standing to his credit. This ensures that if a man leaves a camp of his own free will, he will at least have some means of support while he is seeking industrial re-establishment.

Would Let League Decide

France Willing To Have Ruling On Pact With Soviet Union

Paris.—France stands ready to go before the world court with Germany to decide whether the Franco-Soviet mutual assistance pact violates the Locarno treaties, Foreign Minister Pierre-Etienne Flandin told the chamber of deputies.

M. Flandin made the offer in the course of his first important chamber speech, urging ratification of the pact with the Soviet Union as a necessary step in the creation of collective security.

He denied the pact could be interpreted as a military alliance, adding that the governments naturally discuss military conditions under which they would exchange assistance.

"We would be unjust to forget that Russian arms contributed to the victory of the Marne," he told the deputies.

Edmonton Leads Province

Has Settled Most Families Under Farm Relief Scheme

Edmonton.—Edmonton led the way in number of families settled under the $600 farm relief settlement scheme, to which the city, province and dominion were parties, according to the summary report of this branch of the department of agriculture.

Since 1932, there have been 295 families sent out from Edmonton, 184 from Calgary, 33 from Medicine Hat, 16 from Lethbridge, four from Wetaskiwin, besides the following: Togo, seven; villages, eight; rural municipal districts, 52; local improvement districts, 16; Turner Valley district, 22.

No Canadians Hurt

Cable Received In Ottawa From Minister To Japan

Ottawa.—The department of external affairs disclosed it had received a cable from Sir Herbert Marler, Canadian minister to Japan, reporting no Canadian citizen was injured in fighting that occurred in Tokyo during a military coup there. The department said Sir Herbert was keeping it informed of developments in Tokyo but declined to make public further contents of his message.

Wants Guarantee Renewed

London.—Usually reliable sources indicated the Belgian government was seeking renewal of British guarantees of the neutrality of that country similar to those existing when the Great War broke out in 1914.

Treaty Has Been Ratified

Franco-Soviet Pact Confirmed By Large Majority

Paris.—The chamber of deputies, by an overwhelming majority, ratified the Franco-Soviet treaty of mutual assistance. The chamber had previously suspended in an uproar. Convening in an atmosphere charged with the new threats of conflict in the Far East arising from the Tokyo coup, Rightist and Communist deputies clashed in an acrimonious debate that all but ended in fistfights on the floor of the house.

Berlin.—Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, Nazi party foreign policy chief, attacked the Franco-Soviet mutual aid pact as "a collective association to menace the peace of the world," in Chancellor Adolf Hitler's personal newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter.

JAPAN LEADERS KILLED IN REVOLT BY WAR PARTY

Tokyo.—Three of Japan's most distinguished leaders were assassinated in a snow storm by young army officers who said they wished "to remove corrupt influences from around the throne."

They killed the Liberal premier, Katsuo Okada, the lord keeper of the privy seal and former premier, Admiral Viscount Makoto Satou, and the chief of military education, Gen. Jotaro Watanabe.

They wounded Korekiyo Takahashi, minister of finance, and Admiral Kanaro Suzuki, lord chamberlain of the imperial court. (A son in New York received a cable from his brother, saying their father, Takahashi, was dead).

They killed and wounded several lesser personages, together with policemen, body guards and personal servants in their sudden attempt at a coup d'etat.

Emperor Hirohito and high Japanese officials conferred at the imperial palace in an endeavor to settle the matter without further bloodshed. The military uprising which took the lives of three government heads.

Military officials, royal princes, members of the privy council and survivors of the former cabinet of assassinated Premier Okada attended the conference.

Meanwhile rebel soldiers were reported still holding public buildings. They refused to give ratification of the pact with the Soviet Union as a necessary step in the creation of collective security.

Efforts to form a stop-gap Japanese government failed in the wake of a bloody military purge of liberal elder statesmen.

While martial law was in force in Tokyo and troops guarded the imperial palace, Fumio Goto, commissioned by Emperor Hirohito to form a cabinet, resigned within a few hours.

Every major world power watched the developing situation with anxiety, as also did ancient China.

The Japanese government claimed the situation was under control, but two fleets were called in from the high seas for duty in Tokyo and Osaka. Martial law was proclaimed many hours after the revolt broke out.

UNUSUAL SWEDISH CRUISER VISITS ENGLAND

The arrival at Gravesend, England, of the Swedish ship "Gotland" caused a good deal of excitement among the local inhabitants. The "Gotland" is a combined cruiser and seaplane-carrier with a displacement of 4,800 tons. She carries six 6-inch guns, six 21-inch torpedo tubes, and eight seaplanes. Our picture shows part of the "Gotland" with some of the seaplanes on the deck.

Protest Against Price Boosts

Manitoba Government Asked To Look Into Machinery Costs

Winnipeg.—The Manitoba government was charged to consult with the Dominion administration with a view to bringing the price of agricultural machinery down "to what they were under the Bennett regime."

Quoting from price lists to show that the cost of farm implements was substantially increased this month, A. R. Welch (Cons, Turtle Mountain) said in the provincial legislature it was the duty of Premier Bracken to press upon Ottawa the need of a 20 per cent. reduction in prices.

Mr. Welch cited 11 instances of increased prices, ranging from $2 to $42 effective February 1 on binders, seed drills, harrows and other machinery.

Douglas Campbell, Progressive member for Lakeside, also complained of higher prices for farm machinery. He stated that the Canadian-American trade agreement had resulted in lower prices for livestock and higher prices for farm machinery.

Choosing Air Mail Bases

Test Flights Over Proposed Routes Will Be Made

Ottawa.—Test flights over the various proposed routes for a north Atlantic air mail service will determine the bases to be established on this side of the Atlantic, a delegation from Sydney was told by officials of the post office department.

Tests of the north Atlantic route will be carried out in the next two years, using the various proposed routes linking the United States with England by way of Newfoundland and some point on the Canadian Atlantic seaboard.

Valuable Coal Production

Edmonton.—Coal valued at $12,440,616 was produced in Alberta during the calendar year 1934—the latest for which reports are complete—it was made known by the report of the provincial department of lands and mines, filed for legislature perusal by Hon. C. C. Ross.

Poverty Among Indians

Parliament Is Told One-Third Are On Relief

Ottawa.—Administration of the affairs of Canada's 112,000 Indians is causing some concern, the House of Commons learned when estimates for the Indian department aggregating $4,241,000 were under consideration.

Hon. T. A. Crerar, superintendent-general of Indian affairs, said the Indian population was increasing and that approximately one-third of it was now on relief.

The increasing expenditures on Indian administration demanded attention of public authorities. From the superficial study he had been able to make since coming to the department he believed some improvements might be made. If this proved to be the case he hoped to be able to make certain proposals before another session of parliament.

The great problems of the department were to improve the situation of the Indians to educate them, to make them self-supporting and to bring them to a greater knowledge of the methods of the white man. He thought the government had not been as wise as it might have been in the latter regard.

Conservative leader Bennett said the fact the Indian population was increasing showed it was well cared for on the whole, although acute distress was often reported from some places.

Answering questions from members, Mr. Crerar said the problem of tuberculosis was a serious one. Segregation of tuberculous pupils in Indian schools was now engaging his attention.

PLAN TO RETIRE PUBLIC DEBTS IS URGED ON HOUSE

Ottawa.—A debt retirement plan involving the bank of Canada and public credit was outlined to the House of Commons by Walter A. Tucker, Liberal member for Rosetown, Sask. It involved converting Dominion, provincial, municipal and public corporate debt into non-interest-bearing securities over a period of 24 years without cost to the treasury.

The Rosetown member, who has become one of the leading financial reformers of the house in his brief time here, outlined his ideas during debate on a motion proposed by M. J. Coldwell (C.C.F., Rosetown-Biggar) to nationalize the Bank of Canada and all chartered banks. The motion was defeated without a recorded division.

Finance Minister Dunning was outspoken in his opposition to nationalizing chartered banks although he said the government has been considering ownership and control of the Bank of Canada. "He did not believe it would be in the best interests of Canada to take over the chartered institutions, involving as it would a managing board and widespread bureaucracy."

The speaker of parliament, Mr. Dunning said, was to control but not operate business. He was opposed to bureaucracy and insisted parliament could not manage a business without delegating authority to some board of other organization.

The finance minister made no reference to the Tucker debt-retirement plan although he said he was "sitting at the feet of many Gamaliels" without hearing anything new.

The basis of the Tucker plan was the theory chartered banks create credit against government bonds. He said they bought government bonds and then loaned against them to the extent of nine or 10 times their face value.

If the chartered banks could do that, why not the Bank of Canada? Mr. Tucker asked. He would have the dominion deposit bonds with the bank and secure credit of $1,000,000 a day, which would be equal to the increase in the public debt over a long period of years.

This credit, which would be without interest or a nominal figure of one per cent, would be used in lieu of bonds which ordinarily would be issued and interest. Dr. Tucker figured the whole public debt could be converted to non-interest securities in 24 years although the same principal would be outstanding.

Based on present-day debt figures, the annual saving in interest charges would be $370,000,000, Mr. Tucker said. Interest, he contended, was "gnawing into the vitals of the nation," so the dominion was spending in interest 54 cents out of every dollar of taxation.

MEMBERS HAVE SUGGESTIONS TO PROVIDE WORK

Ottawa.—Private members of the House of Commons bombarded the government with a variety of suggestions for ending unemployment.

The discussion came up on a resolution proposed by Grant MacNeill (C.C.F., Vancouver North), who proposed the Dominion should assume full responsibility for unemployment relief, institute a large public works program, increase the standard of direct relief and raise money by high taxes on incomes over $10,000.

An extensive back-to-the-land movement was the favorite idea of E. H. Brunelle (Liberal, Champlain). He proposed the government should spend money improving idle land and put unemployed from the cities to work on the land, by conscription, if necessary. They should be given improved land and left to work out their own salvation without money grants.

Reforestation and housing were activities favored by Hon. H. H. Stevens. He believed these were self-liquidating works which over a period of years would repay the amount of money governments might lay out in providing employment.

At the same time Mr. Stevens agreed there was "a germ of sound truth" in the Social Credit theory. Monetary matters were to some extent responsible for unemployment.

Cause Of Japanese Trouble

Blame Age-Old Oriental Organization For Tokyo Revolt

Shanghai.—It was learned on reliable authority here that an age-old Oriental organization known as the Showa was behind the coup in Tokyo. It said this organization had been revived last year as a fascist, militaristic body by Bonke Matsuoaka.

Matsuoka, president of the South Manchurian Railway and formerly Japan's delegate to the League of Nations, said at the time he was reviving the Showa as "a moral, not a political, movement."

One of its characteristics is extreme veneration of the emperor. The Showa has appeared from time to time as a force in Japanese affairs. It held considerable political influence in the 19th century but went out of existence when occidental influence began to penetrate the country.

Matsuoka consistently has been a supporter of the militarist element in Japan. Outlining the policies of the Showa, he said last year it would oppose capitalism and parliamentarianism and would favor a corporate state with imperialistic aims.

Prospectors Report Gold Find

Inch Wide Veins Discovered In Flathead District, B.C.

Cranbrook, B.C.—Coarse gold—in veins an inch wide—has been discovered in the Flathead district in the extreme southeast of British Columbia, hardy prospectors reported here as they conferred in Cranbrook to record their claims.

Despite the extreme cold weather of the last month lively staking activity has been going on in the district for the last 10 days. The scene of the rich find is Grizzly Gulch, a tributary of Alaknina Creek. It is in the Rocky Mountain range just north of the international line and just west of the Alberta-British Columbia boundary.

Danish Aviators Killed

Were Hunting For Non-Existent Pilot In Storm

Copenhagen, Denmark.—Three fliers were killed in an attempt to aid a non-existent pilot.

Sounds heard on the ground led to belief that an aeroplane was seeking a landing in a snow storm and the trio went up in one plane to escort it to safety.

After several hours authorities concluded the singing of snow-laden telephone wires in the strong wind caused the sound similar to an aeroplane engine. As word went out to recall the guiding plane the news was received it had crashed.
